STUDENT LIFE

"The story of my life!!"

"Just five months, four days, six hours, forty minutes, and twenty-two seconds to go!!"

"And furthermore ..."

"Indigestion-a plague to the students of Lee!!"

"If he wears that tie one more time!!"

"You take the halfback, I'll take the quarterback, and Pat gets the End!!"

"If you think we're squashed, you should see the guys we're standing on!!"

"And this kids is called the Freddie!!"

"You guessed it - I'm the greatest!!"

"Take that, you underclassman!!"

Those last frantic minutes spent on the Senior float ... the warmth of a bonfire ... the wild applause as the team charges onto the field ... school pride of crowning our loveliest queen ... the confusion of the many-footed Tri-Hi-Y dragon ... the Epsilon's wild exhibition at the follies ... the wind blowing tissue paper around the floats on parade day ... the misery of the Juniors ... the joy of the Seniors ... the contrast between stacked heels and football cletes ... the joy of reunion ... the anticipation of victory ... the bitterness of defeat; Homecoming - a time of whirlwind emotions and last minute preparations ... a mad mixture of fierce competition and a uniting wish for victory ... a time of continued movement and action - Homecoming is surely a time when Lancers are on the go.

"Time, Oh Time, Where Did You Go?"

"What he doesn't know won't hurt him."

"I could have danced all night."

DANCES

As young adults, we express, by nature a feeling of "rhythm." The many and varied dances at Lee have provided such opportunities. With the coming of the new school year an innovation was made; the Freshman Orientation Dance, a novel and practical event. Then, of course, the traditional "victory hop" was sponsored by classes as the best ending to many football games. As the Fall briskness awakened the festive spirits of our students, the annual Sadie Hawkins dance was held. Orange and brown streamers framed the travel posters belonging to shiftless Lancers on the go at our most successful Homecoming dance. And in February, "the jet set" of upperclassmen attended their own discotheque.

"They say don't go on Wolvertin Mountain."

"We Can Work It Out."

"Look Out For The Cheater!"

"No matter what shape your stomach is in."

"Shake it up Baby, Twist and Shout!"

"And she killed him with a piece of soap."

"What's New Pussycat"!

"A typical family scene."

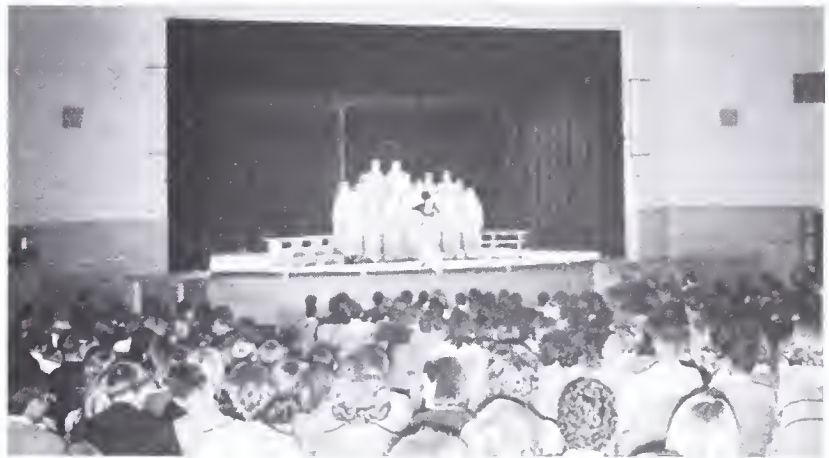

"My World Is Empty Without You, Babe"!

"The lineup."

"I was only telling her about the Jr. float when she broke up!"

"And now presenting a new group, A Capella A-Go-GO!"

ASSEMBLIES

Very often the warm spirit of Lee students is revealed during an assembly. The brightest occasion in which we assembled was the formal introduction of Mientje de Jong, our foreign exchange student to the entire student body. With the performance of Lee's band at each assembly the feeling of unity among the students was to be found in every countenance. The homecoming weekend opened with a perfect assembly that gave suggestions for appropriate apparel. The Key and Keyette clubs built up their courage to model formal and casual dress. It was certainly the highlight of the Fall program of assemblies.

Prior to the Yule tide season a half hour of Christmas carols was presented to us. The gay colors of blue, green, and gold that the Madrigals donned for the occasion represented the complete joy that Christmas brings. And city sidewalks were crowded with the generous well wishers and carolers.

All through the year we enjoyed heartedly several assemblies.

"And this week Woodson will taste our wrath!!"

National Merit Finalists (L. to r.) Anne Norris, D. Davis, David McIlwain, and Stan Kampman.

AWARDS

Optomist Award Winners Patty Culpepper, Keith Shepard

To those who have endeavored continuously to become successful in their roles as students and good citizens these awards have been presented. In the area of scholarship the National Merit Scholarship Program honored students from Lee with well deserved titles that will enable them to compete for scholarships.

On the local scene but still very important the Optimist Club of Springfield recognized two of our students for being of the most value to our school. The D.A.R. pinned a greatly valued medal of good citizenship on our worthy student, Karen Reuter.

For a week of tight schedules and nostalgic tendencies five students attended a Virginia college to learn of our state and federal government. The program was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Not only these winners themselves but the whole student body is proud to have been honored so.

SENIOR ADMINISTRATION DAY

As the sunny and brisk day of February 18th began this year, many seniors dressed in their best and anticipated the antics in controlling a class of their own. Yes, they were to proceed with a normal teaching ability. As the morning wore on, many looked forward to the free hour that was given them. As many teachers will confirm, the day is tiring and worn thin of variety. But with the livelier spirit of our younger instructors the expected mischievousness and light heartedness made the day a success. And with the generous praise of the Administration on the success of the event the senior class of '66 feels that they have set a tradition for rising seniors.

"What's the French word for !Help!"

"In our previous class we studied sound. The topic today, ...

"You dared me to throw this egg at the Sr. class table sign!"

"The Spy Who Loved Me."

"O.K, just don't let the seniors act like freshman in class."

"I know I'm funny, but you don't have to crack up about it."

"What's he standing in the door for?"

"Today In International Pandimonium Day!"

"Caught in the act!"

SENIOR ADMINISTRATION

"You will address me as Mr. McIlwain!"

"Cosines? Tangents?
Miss Will can have this job any day."

"Uh, yes, that's a very good question."

"While we toil at Pope, conjugations, binomial progressions and what not."

"If you don't give your man 007, we will."

"I dare you to take my picture!"

"Hmm, algebra II is the study of advanced algebra?!"

"He he!, You'd better not let Mrs. Durie see that!"

"But with these your legs would show. What ever happened to your wool socks?"

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN

On the eves of November 18,19, and 20 a full audience of students, parents and children awaited the opening performance of the most delightful play, "Cheaper By The Dozen." Students from every class put their dramatic talents together to achieve the quality of lively comedy that belongs to this family story. Separate committees of the Drama Club constructed the scenery that gave a home-like atmosphere to the setting of the play.

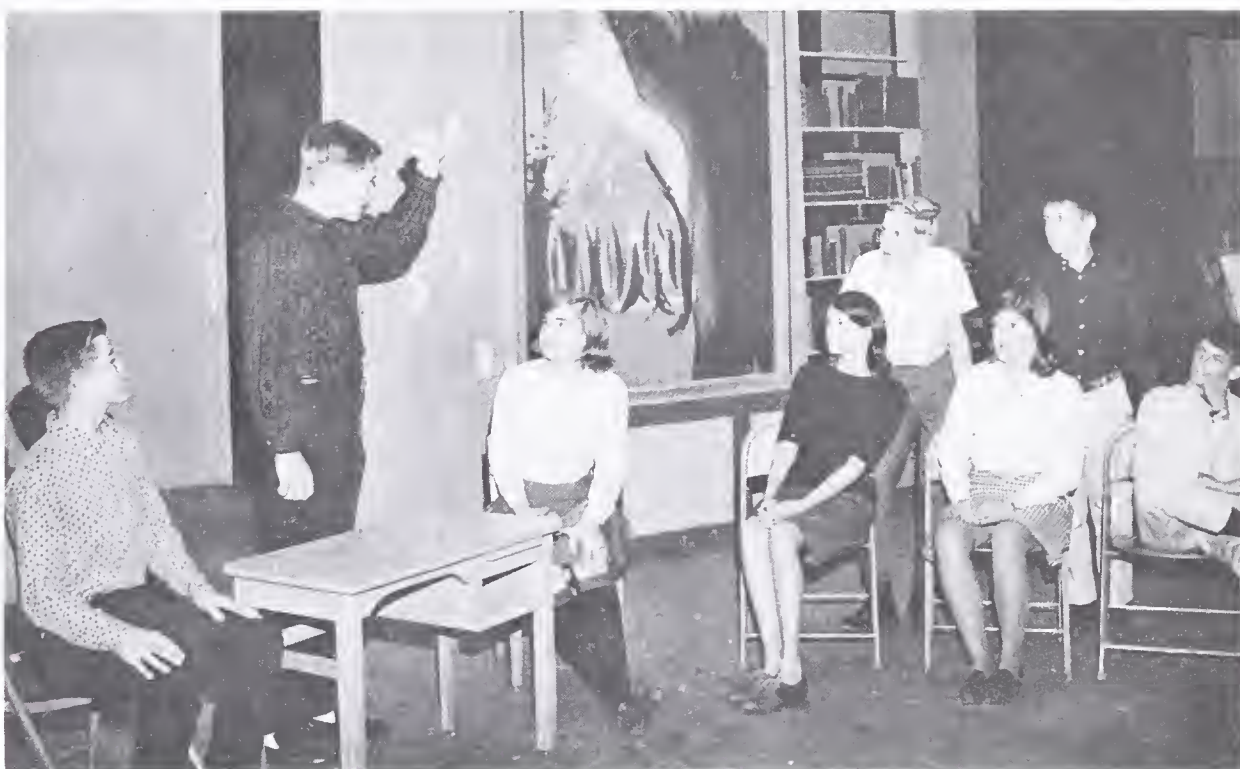

"Believe me, it was this long! And the line broke."

"Up the Down Staircase."

"I'm the tyrant in this household!"

"O-O-Oh! I hope he doesn't slip about where we went last night!"

"I'm too old to go to bed at 8 o'clock."

"Boy! This is great fun!"

A.F.S. A-GO-GO

Wilhelmina Anna Maria de Jong, known as Mientje to us, from Nijmegen, Holland, applied to be a foreign exchange student and was chosen by the A.F.S. to come to Springfield and to attend Lee. Mientje says she loves Lee, and proves her statement by being active in Keyettes, the Art Guild, Sigma Chi Delta Tri-Hi-Y, and F.H.A. Mientje found Americans and their customs interesting. She loves hamburgers, hot-dogs, pizza, and T.V. dinners, and enjoyed attending school dances and other affairs.

Next year Mientje plans to attend a university in Holland, where she will major in sociology, anthropology, or psychology.

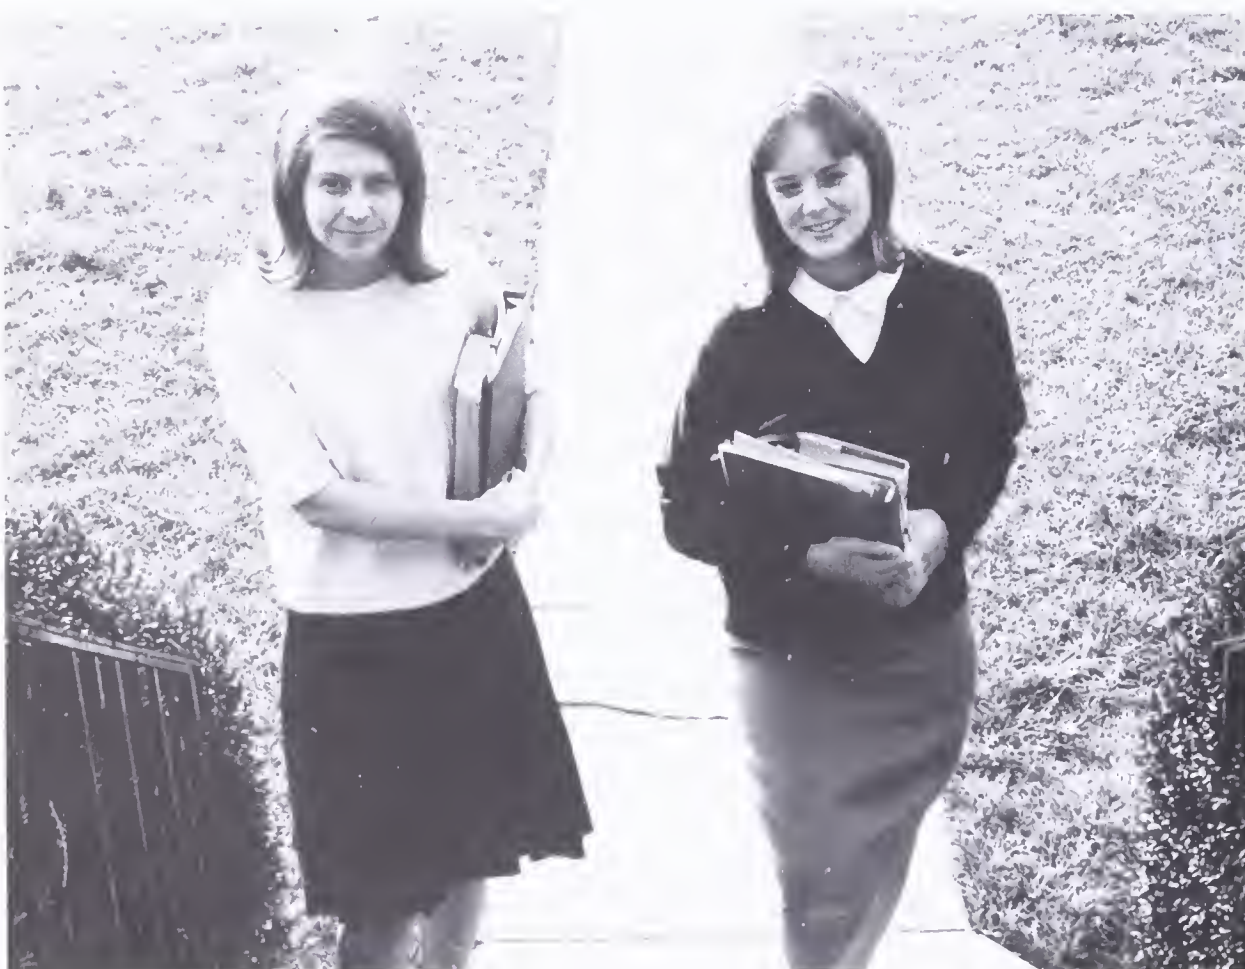

Mientje has truly been a valuable addition to the senior class and to the student body of Robert E. Lee.

"Uh, Oh, late again."

"Flattery will get you nowhere."

"Hey guys! Can't we go in now. It's cold!"

“You think this Chemistry is fun? Ha!”

“Let Nature bear the expense. Let our eyes not look away, but meet.”—Emerson.

"Hey fellas! Put me down."

"IT'S ACADEMIC"

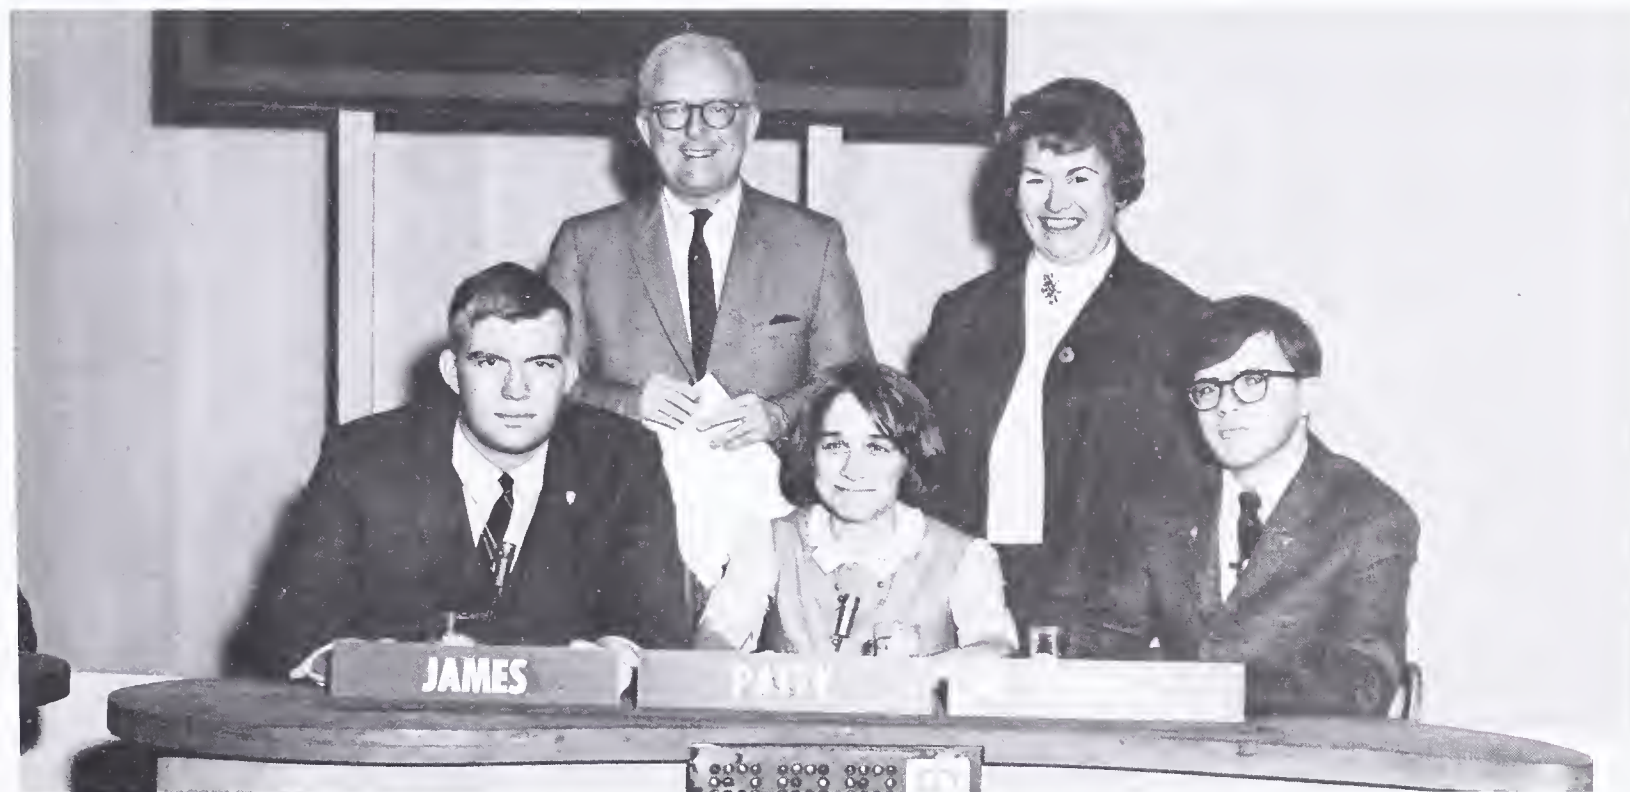

As expected Lee's trio of very capable scholars made a fine showing in the battle of wits on "It's Academic" this year. Craig Olson, the captain, Patty Culpepper and Jim More fought with their stage fright and came in second in the competition with a score of 260 points. As everyone realizes, Lee's "It's Academic" team was the best of the three at this showing and it may be the outcome that Lee will become the winner. This may occur due to a slight overlooking of the dexterity in Patty Culpepper's push button finger!! With all joking aside, it is hoped very much by many that Lee can make another showing of its academic abilities through Craig, Patty and Jim on another It's Academic program, but as the winners.

"No, they're not really nervous."

"Do you think we can get away with it?"

"Mr. Mac McGarry, Mrs. Mellion, J. Moore, P. Culpepper, C. Olson.

JR-SR BASKETBALL

The Junior Senior basketball season opened on March 25th with a slight jolt for the senior class's ego, because of the loss of the first game to the juniors, 45 to 42. But with the unbeatable spirit and skill of the senior class, they rose triumphantly over the junior class in the second game, 74 to 0. For the girls' game on the 25th the senior girls lost only by the skin of their teeth. There was some speculation that the girls' game was rigged. Some people even went so far as to declare verbally and violently that the last boys' game was rigged. It has been several years since the faculty of Lee challenged the varsity basketball game, but this year the tradition was reopened, with a game on the 29th of March. The teachers just couldn't beat the youthful agility and spirit of the varsity team. Yes, the students won by a margin of twenty points.

The brightest event of the season was the Good Guys Basketball game held on April 7. The Good Guys will confirm that the game was a tie but we know that the faculty of Lee won.

"All right fellas - hands off - this is the senior ball!"

"Do you want to dance and hold my hand?!"

"Junior-Senior riot anyone?!"

"Tag! I got ya!"

"Is this basketball or ballet?"

"Sorry fellas, it isn't going anywhere!"

"Beat Junior rush, flunk now!"

"Would all naive people leave - this is a lusty song!!"

VARIETY SHOW

The sophomore class made another great success of the traditional talent show this March. Among the many talents that were discovered, the judges found a well deserving winner. Frank Turburville sang three of his own songs and played the pieces on the piano at the same time. Many of the fine folk groups and soloists that performed were applauded enthusiastically. And of course there were very talented dancers and baton twirlers. In one original event, the audience was almost fooled by a pantomime on the antics in a reflection in a mirror. Between each act a very good local band performed. They called themselves "The Victors." As expected, the yearly variety show was most entertaining.

"If we weren't so scared we'd sing!"

"The next song you will hear will be the 'Flight of the Bumblebee!'"

"Would Karen Reuter please call her father ..."

"... they call the wind Mariah ..."

"I'm not really a low down onery pig stealer!" "Don't believe him!"

"Man, will this ever be paradise!"

OKLAHOMA

Where the wind comes sweeping o'er the plains, that's where Oklahoma is. It is also the title of a very lively and famous play by Rogers and Hammerstein. On the nights of April 14, 15, and 16 this year our drama department and many talented students brought the house down with its fine performance of the All-American musical production. A great deal of credit is awarded to the stage managers, the wardrobe arrangers, and many others who succeeded in constructing a setting so perfectly Western. The hard workers that produced "Oklahoma" proved themselves worthy of the acclaim that the audiences awarded them. "Oklahoma" was, perhaps, the best organized and most successful play ever presented at Lee.

"I got to Kansas City on a Friday ..."

"... where the wind comes sweeping down the plain ..."

"He called me his persian kitten!"

"I just love the way you handle horses!"

"... ain't I handsome and curly-headed ...!"

"Would you say the fringe was made of silk?"

Being a senior ... flashing class rings in front of underclassmens faces ... admiring senior pictures ... ducking between the bars to get in front of the underclassmen ... laughing at Halloween costumes ... crying because there is no senior court ... soothing those who had to keep old lockers ... wondering if the Indian really didn't have pants on ... contemplating Macbeth ... sitting through three to six hours taking college boards ... visiting Washington for government ... worrying when the original Senior Administration Day was a snow day ... creating a masterpiece in Senior Art ... trying hard to stay awake during class ... taking 4th year subjects ... fretting over semester grades ... paying installments for the New York trip ... advising those poor underclassmen ... introducing parents at the Senior Tea ... bragging about acceptance to college ... hoping your parents wouldn't chaperone on the trip ... composing a list of people to send announcements to ... watching the beautician lacquer hair for the prom ... buying a new gown ... remembering which side the tassel should go on ... marching past the bleachers, packed with standing underclassmen ... hearing your name ... and it's over ...

"I'd ask for her bottle - but!!"

"The first one of you guys that comes near me gets it right in the ribs!!"

"The recipe for Geritol - one toe of frog!!"

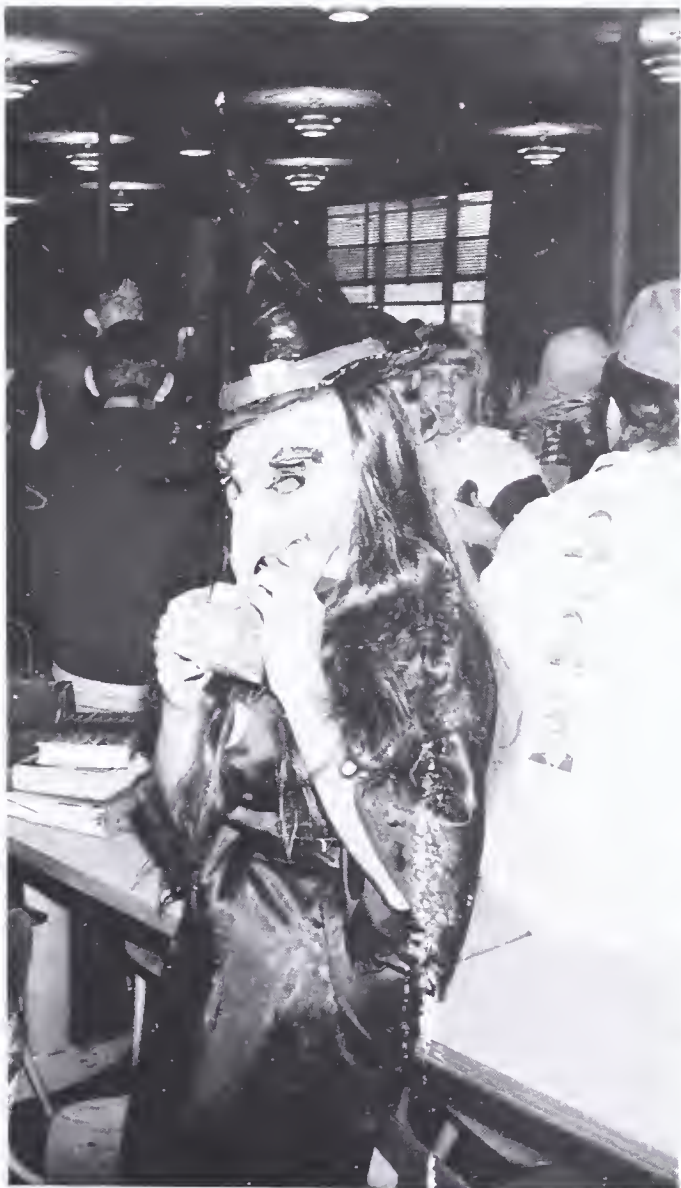

"Would you believe—I was born blond?!"

HALLOWEEN

It was comforting to see an American marine walking the halls of the school, because he was needed to fight off the Viet Cong that came to school on the annual Senior Halloween Day. Little girls and boys carrying teddy bears found themselves taking physics or analysis. Farmers who dressed in overalls and looking like drop-outs were studying government and even English Demonstrators marched against almost everything, in fact one enthusiastic senior carried a "Ban Everything" placard. Greenfaced witches, who didn't resemble Samantha at all, wandered around scaring the poor under classmen. Girls, including a girl scout, with hairy legs and boys' physiques drew whistles from boys, including those with physiques of girls. Flappers were also present in many classes bringing the Roaring Twenties to the Soaring Sixties. It was a day of fun for Class of '66!

"Grandma, what big teeth you have!!"

"See what drinking milk has done for my complexion!"

"En guard!!"

"He just stole my lollipop!"

"Would you believe - I had only two!!"

"Another touchdown for Navy."

ANNAPOLIS TRIP

A sea of white hats waving to the tune of "Anchors A Weigh" occurring more often than an Indian riding a pinto up the hill signified that the midshipmen under the white hats were winning. Lee's seniors went up to see the Navy play the Indians of William and Mary in October at Annapolis. The three buses arrived in the morning, giving the seniors time to wonder around looking at buildings on campus, stores off campus, and midshipmen everywhere.

The game activities started when the midshipmen marched on the field in formation and greeted the visitors, which included the seniors. The William and Mary Indians came riding by and up the hill and some excited seniors noticed that he was missing a very important piece of clothing. After careful study through binoculars, another senior confirmed the fact.

Navy won with ease, so the cannon was fired and the smoke stack on the ship smoked often. The joyous seniors boarded the buses at the end of the game and bid farewell to Annapolis.

"Hey come back here, you - the guy who dropped the gum on the ground!!"

"What does that Indian have on?!"

"Hey guys, pass it back!!"

"Parents enjoyed the delicious refreshments as well as the pleasant conversation."

"Gee, my first cup of tea!!"

SENIOR RECEPTION

Seniors and their parents began arriving for the Tea honoring the Class of '66 a little before three o'clock on February 13. The seniors spent their time meeting parents, and the parents spent their time meeting seniors and teachers. F.H.A. members served the punch and tea and kept the cookie and sandwich trays full for the guests. The cafeteria was given the honor of being the reception room and easily accommodated the approximately 300 people who attended the affair.

"But Mom, she was just kidding about that 'F'!!!"

"I'm afraid I haven't seen her in class in about a week!!"

Upperclassmen at last—working on the Junior Jargon ... struggling vainly to get the float repaired in time for the parade ... serving as senior slaves ... trying to sit at the senior lunch table without being caught ... battling to a tie in the junior-senior soccer game ... measuring for class rings ... fighting for a place in the senior lunch line ... taking college boards ... fighting the seniors on the basketball court ... waiting in line to get class rings ... holding S.C.A. and senior class elections ... attending the Junior Prom ... rejoicing as the 1966 seniors graduate ... yes, they are Juniors.

Mrs. Burnside, Mr. Schultz, Junior Class sponsors.

Miss Alexander and Mr. Gontis, Sophomore Class sponsors.

Experienced in the art of passing or failing in high school ... working on the class float ... carrying on the sophomore tradition with the Sophomore Talent Show ... handling frogs in biology ... rejoicing at the last year of gym ... joining all the clubs that don't let in freshmen ... getting a chance for induction into the selective clubs ... being joyful over the fact that sophomores don't take STEP and SCAT tests ... reading Julius Caesar and Silas Marner ... all this and more signify a year with sophomores on the go.

Mr. Kesler and Mrs. Lawson, Freshman Class Sponsors.

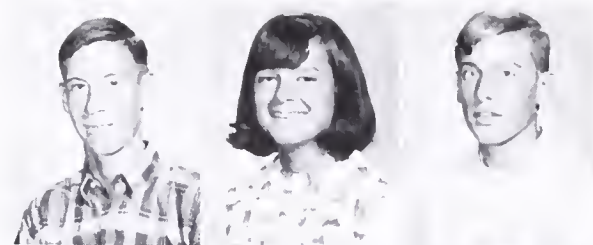

Diane Dix, Secretary; Carol Grissom, Vice President; Denny Hennigan, President; Mimi Madden, Historian; Jan Farris, Treasurer.

Adjusting to a new school ... pushing through hoards of upperclassmen ... searching for the "freshman elevator" ... buying tickets for the swimming pool ... trying to find the stairs to the "third floor" ... forming the Freshman Football Team ... electing class officers ... fighting for a seat in the cafeteria ... working to make the third place homecoming float ... reading Great Expectations ... struggling through algebra ... becoming a part of Lee High School ... they're the Class of '69.

Academics is doing ... napping during a biology lecture ... hearing about Mr. Savage's latest rule ... bragging about the "A's" and forgetting about the "F's" ... saying goodbye as the late bell rings ... gazing at the newest art exhibit ... cutting class just once ... getting an "A" on the very first term paper ... translating that ten line sentence from Virgil ... finishing last night's homework during homeroom ... understanding why the Roman Empire fell ... going on a field trip ... forgetting about a test first period ... knowing all the answers ... having a test in almost every subject on the same day ... counting the seconds before the 3:35 bell rings.

ACADEMICS

Mr. William C. Parrish, Principal

Mr. Parrish has been the principal of Lee since the school opened in 1958 and plans to return next year. We students were excited to hear that our principal was one of two men in the state nominated for the office of president of the Virginia Education Association. Fears of getting a new principal were eased when we found that if he was elected, Mr. Parrish would remain as Lee's principal too.

Being a principal of a school as large as Lee entails much work and worry. Mr. Parrish seemed to have an endless number of meetings to attend and administrative duties to perform.

During homeroom we were always greeted by morning announcements which were usually made by General Norell; sometimes we would go into class and find that our teacher was being observed by the Assistant Principal of instruction, General Norell. We saw him everywhere working in the book rooms in order to carry out his duties which are "to organize and maintain a unified program of instruction." He was in charge of text books and other teaching materials, student activities such as athletics, clubs, and student associations. We saw him everywhere working his very hardest to give us the best education possible.

Mr. Piper, who holds the title of Assistant Principal of Administration, has been at Lee since the school opened in 1958. It was Mr. Piper who stood patiently outside to check in the buses on those freezing mornings of January and February. He thought that the condition and morale of the students would be greatly improved as the wings were completed and occupied—and he was right!

Mr. Savage seemed to be omnipresent this year. His position as Assistant Principal of Administration gave him the rather unpleasant job of calling to the office and speaking to any student on the cut list. He also patrolled the cafeteria and the hall in order to get rid of the problem in the cafeteria and to catch any student roaming the halls.

Mr. Savage came to Lee from five years of service at Mount Vernon as an English and American History teacher. He made and enforced many new rules at Lee this year in order to maintain a healthy school spirit and tighten discipline so that Lee would be a school everyone could be proud of.

General Norell

Mr. Glen C. Piper

Mr. Ronald Savage

"Seniors may pick up their college boards scores today in the guidance office." This long-awaited announcement brought on a huge rush of seniors for the guidance counselors to help. The counselors gave encouragement to the trembling line as they handed out the scores.

The guidance department was one of the hardest working departments this year. Its duties ranged from preparing schedules to hearing student problems, from counseling on vocations to sending transcripts, and many more.

As far as the students were concerned, however, the greatest service done by the guidance department was the result of a little blue piece of paper which provided a legal excuse to get out of class. The real reason for the summons was usually a conference though, and when the conference was over, the once joyous student had to return to the regular grind of the classroom. Truly, guidance provided a source of counseling and temporary happiness.

SECRETARIES

Typing, acting as receptionists, checking students in and out, and doing everything else that pertains to the office in general—our four office secretaries were kept really busy all year. Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Tilson, secretary to Mr. Parrish, are the veterans of the secretarial staff whereas Mrs. Percy and Mrs. Reeves have both just completed their first year here. Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Tilson, and Mrs. Percy spent their time behind the desk or in the small office rooms, while Mrs. Reeves took care of the IBM work.

SCHOOL ACCOUNTANT

Mrs. Norton completed her sixth year at Lee with hopes of being back again next year. Her duties include handling and keeping records of all club and department funds, paying all school bills except those of the cafeteria, and supervising the school store.

ENGLISH

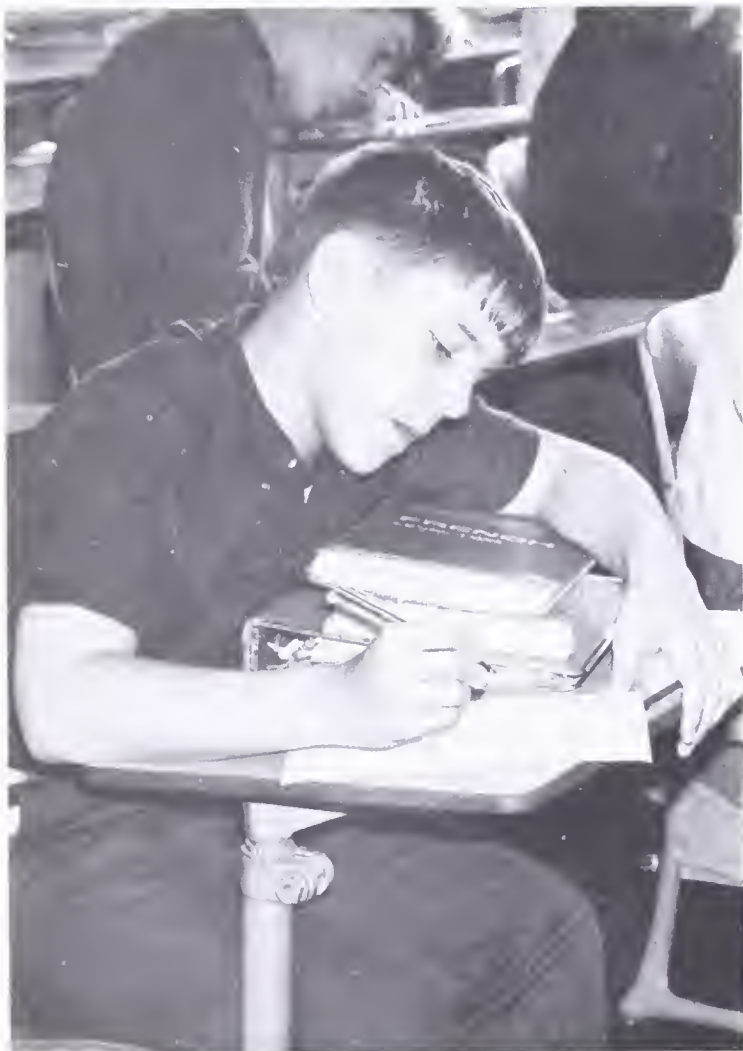

The Freshmen had "Great Expectations" when they arrived at Lee this year. They found themselves concentrating on grammar and on Charles Dickens. In January a full-length movie version of Great Expectations was shown to all Freshmen.

The Sophomores also concentrated on grammar but added Julius Caesar and Silas Marner to the agenda. One advanced Sophomore English class was madly borrowing Junior and Senior literature books in order to get their assignments. The Bridge of San Luis Rey was one of the most commonly read books of the Sophomores.

Juniors always remember existentialism, puritanism, romanticism, and other ways of writing after a thorough study of American literature, from Poor Richard's Almanac to Paul Bunyan to A Farewell to Arms. Such books as the Scarlet Letter and Moby Dick gave pure enjoyment.

Shakespeare, "Beowulf", Pygmalion, and many other subjects kept the Seniors on the go studying English literature in all phases. Assignments included Paradise Lost, Dr. Faustus, Of Human Bondage, and many others.

One of the English Classes issued forth smoke and black robed figures were seen in the vicinity during the study of MacBeth. The gray reference books came in handy for term papers, and book reviews.

LANGUAGE

Dixistine Latinam? Sprechen Sie Deutsch? Parlez Vous Francais? Hablan Vstedes Espanol? The language department this year had three advanced language classes-French V Spanish V and Latin IV. Because of their advanced study, these classes often had very un-academic activities; such as the birthday party which Latin IV had for Vergil, and the clandestine meetings of the French V class in the library.

French, Spanish, Latin, and German were also taught in the early years. In these classes the students received an insight into what the language was and could be. Teachers struggled to get across the fun of the language, and students struggled to get through at least three years; both waiting for the fun of advanced study.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Course offerings in social studies this year included U.S. and Virginia History, U.S. and Virginia government, world history, world geography, modern European History, sociology, economics, and American civilization. Knowledge of these subjects was also increased by field trips such as the government classes trip to the supreme Court and the Capitol and the European history class trip to the Russian and British embassies. The American civilization course, which is new this year, combines American history and literature to trace the evolution of the total social structure. The course was very successful.

MATHEMATICS

$(\sqrt{X_1-X_2})^2 + (Y_1-Y_2)^2 \dots (A^2 = B^2+C^2) \dots (A^x = Y)$ $(\text{Log}_a Y=X)$ $\dots \text{Cos } X^2 + \text{Sin } X^2=1$). What is all this? It is, of course, math - logical to a few and utter confusion of the rest.

This year the Mathematics Department with thirteen teachers offered 62 classes in Academic and General Math. All classes were conducted under the modern concept, with close coordination within subject were given for the first time. In addition to the standard high school courses of general math, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry, advanced courses were offered in Functions, Matrices, Probability and Statistics, and Analysis. The latter, a survey of First Year College Math included Calculus. To enable a more extensive coverage of Advanced Algebra, several classes in Algebra without Trigonometry were offered. Probability and Statistics, a semester course was available for the first time. Consumer Math, which was well received last year, replaced General Math II. The students of Lee were thus able to pursue their quest for knowledge of Math in broader and more advanced fields.

SCIENCE

"Do you add acid to water or water to acid ... my planaria died! ... Quick! what kind of cleavage is this ... what is Ohm's Law? All of these questions could have and probably occurred in one of Lee's many science classes this year.

The major change in the curricula for this year was the introduction of the Earth Science Curriculum Project, (ESCP), course in place of the traditional earth sciences. Based on a Conceptual approach, ESCP joined the already well-established Biological Science Curriculum Course, (BSCS), the Physical Science Study Course, (PSCS), and the Chemical Bond Approach, (CBA), to give Lee a completely up-to-date and challenging science program. The continuation of traditional physics, special materials and advanced biology, and Science 9 rounded out a science offering completely adequate to all the varying needs and desires of the students of Lee.

The major change in environment was the joyfully received new Science wing in November. A new Chemistry laboratory, chemistry lecture room, three biology laboratories, and a general science room were promptly put to use enthusiastically by both students and faculty. Gone, and not regretted, were the days of dividing someone else's planaria in error, and the three-test-tubes-for-one-rack-position situation. Gone also were the days of classes in every room every period. The easing of the overcrowded conditions in the department room proved to be a real advantage in moving Lee students ahead in their quest for knowledge of the exciting world of science.

HOME ECONOMICS

Whether sewing dresses, skirts, suits, or formals; or studying to receive a certificate in Red Cross Home Nursing; or learning to stuff turkeys; or supervising a nursery school for three and four year olds; or discovering the secrets of the psychology of homemaking; the girls in the Home Economics Department were on the go all the time. In addition to the regular four progressive courses, a new course, senior homemaking, was offered this year for juniors and seniors who had had no previous home economics training. In Home Economics III, a unit was taught on marriage tied in with money and housing. This unit included learning to read and to draw blueprints. The Home Economics Department provided a thorough program of study for all students concerned.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

From the Lee industrial arts department emerged approximately 500 students experienced in such fields as mechanical drawing, electronics, and general shop. In mechanical drawing students studied architectural and engineering drawing in order to develop the basic skills and an understanding of technical processes related to drawing. The electronics course provides knowledge on the nature and composition of matter, principles of direct and alternating current, Ohm's Law, the principles of transmitting and receiving radio signals, the use of volt-ohm-milliameters and vacuum tube voltmeters, and many other subjects. General shop was an overall course which covered many areas of industry. It was from here that the big wooden crosses and the candy dishes and the cuff links came.

BUSINESS

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country." This sentence was firmly planted in the minds of typing students through constant repetition as a warm-up drill. The IBM Selectric typewriters presented a real challenge to all typists. For advanced levels came the adjustments to no carriage and push button return. Beginning typists found that they had to learn quickly because every move was a letter typed.

Besides typing, courses in bookkeeping, general business, notehand, shorthand, business law, and C.O.P. were offered this year. Approximately 716 students took part in business education.

V.O.T.-D.E.

How very lucky, some of Lee's seniors were to have to take only a few subjects. Some of them even left school after lunch! These students not only were able to miss school, but were making money too, by participating in the distributive education program offered at Lee for the first time this year. Students worked in three main areas-wholesale, retail, and service. Such stores as Kresge's, House of Music, and Zayres received help from Lee's D.E. program.

Vocational office training is very much like distributive education, except that work is done in nearby offices. This office work provided students with the experience necessary to get a really good office job after graduation.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education? It means struggling to do at least average on the physical fitness tests and studying the rules of "the game." It means striving for eight out of ten baskets and reading the drivers' education books. It means skinned knees and mental health. Physical education is not just concerned with teaching students how to play, but also with instilling desire to keep in shape.

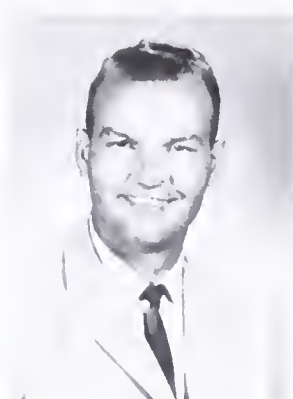

Although it is doubtful that any Robin Hood will come from the archery unit or that another Wilma Rudolph will develop because of track practice, the girls are encouraged to use all their effort in every unit. The boys take part in football, track and field, basketball, and baseball.

MUSIC

From Bach to the Beatles—nothing was left out by the Lee High Music Department.

The instrumental department was host to over 150 students in classes each day. In addition to a music appreciation class, planned for music listening and enjoyment, there were four strictly instrumental classes for brass instruments, for woodwinds, and for percussion which met a regular period daily. The fourth instrumental class was the Robert E. Lee High School Concert Band which rehearsed daily for a period and one-half. Most performances centered around the Concert Band. Within the band were such groups as brass quartets, brass choirs, and woodwind quintets which performed for special programs. A select group from the Concert Band made up a "Pit Band" for school assemblies and pep rallies. The Robert E. Lee High School Concert Band is rated as a Grade VI band, performing at the most difficult levels of syphonic band repertoire.

The choral department also consisted of 150 members of which there are five divisions—Beginning Chorus for freshmen; Mixed Chorus for sophomores, Concert Choir for better sophomores and juniors, Acappella Choir for better juniors and seniors, and the Lee High Madrigals composed of the very best singers in Lee. The department gave a fall concert, a PTA Christmas Concert; took a very active role in the musical, and finished the year with a colorful Spring Concert.

The Guggenheim? It's an art museum in New York. Fifty-three students participated in the annual senior art field trip to New York, where they visited the Guggenheim, Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Whitney. Senior art was offered to seniors who had never taken art but were interested in art work.

Lee's art department stands out in Fairfax as one of the few with an established Art Honors program. Honors were earned by presenting one-man art shows which were displayed at Lee and in nearby buildings, such as the Northern Virginia Bank.

Sketching, painting, plastering, doing junk sculpture, making tissue collages—art education.

CLINIC

Got a tummy ache? a headache? a test? If so, you probably use the school clinic. The clinic was a truly vital part of our school year. If you were absent from school, you had to wait in a long line of students in front of the clinic to get your excuse. Embarrassment and humiliation resulted in the clinic when weight were taken, or when a student couldn't even read the top "E" on the eye chart. The nurse had to take care of health records, hypocondriacs, and the sick students.

LIBRARY

From Silver Chief to the Rescue to The Quest for Social Justice, the Lee High School Library is filled with over 10,000 volumes covering every imaginable field on every reading level.

A Librarian's work is never done. If all the books are on the shelves, no one is waiting to have a book checked out, there are no book orders to send, all overdue book notices have been filled out, and the books on the shelves have been straightened, the librarians busied themselves putting the card catalogue in order, or preparing for the next faculty tea to be held in the library.

"And today's specialty - eye of newt!!!"

CAFETERIA

The cafeteria staff this year received a reward for its faithful service at Lee—a new cafeteria with better facilities. The new cafeteria, which opened in early 1966, greatly relieved the crowded eating conditions because 800 can be seated in it. The number of staff members was increased to take care of new equipment such as steam cooking for vegetables and special ovens.

Highlights in foods included peanut butter cookies, double-decker hamburgers.

"Another care package from Israel - Baked Arab!!"

JANITORIAL STAFF

Thirteen men and three women worked hard this year to keep our growing school clean during and after school hours, after dances, and after other extra curricular activities. Although normal quitting time is 3:30, the staff often stays longer to finish. Mr. Settle, the head custodian, who completes his second year at Lee this year, said he really enjoys working here.

"Don't try to lateral!"

"Let me go—I have to make a touchdown!"

"Go down, will you?!"

"Let me at him!"

What started with varsity practice and tryouts in August, made its first appearance in early September, followed for nine more weeks, took place on Friday nights, was the best attended of all sports, and proved itself again and again the roughest high school sport? Football of course!

Hundreds of school-spirited Lee students sat in the stands each week, rain or clear, warm or freezing cold, to watch the Lee Lancers win, or tie, or even lose.

"Anyone seen the other team?!!!"

"I'll get him!!!"

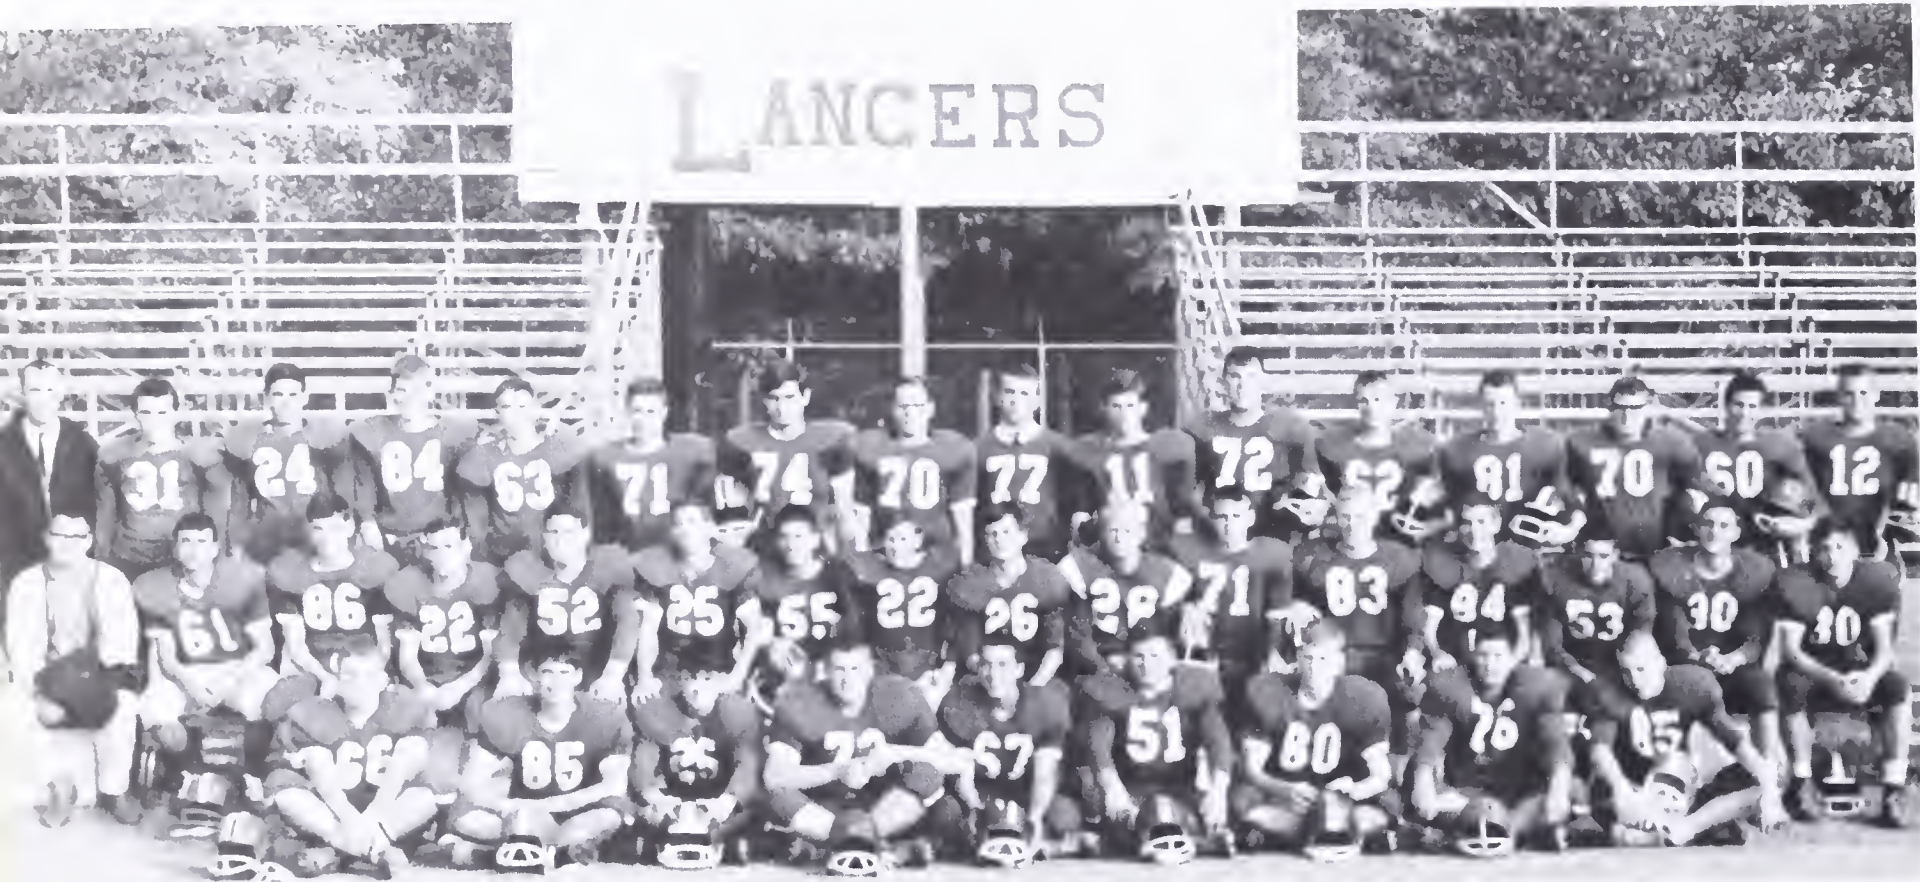

"Get the ball!!!"

"Hey fellows, help me tackle this guy!!!"

“Anybody find a contact?!”

Where do the Varsity football players come from? Very often they were once players on the Junior Varsity team. In J.V. football the boys begin to learn the skills of the game and how to put them to use. The practice is much harder than in their Freshman year and a lot longer. They learn what it is to practice till dark and long past in the cold and mud.

Our J.V. team showed unequalled enthusiasm this year in all its games. This enthusiasm was felt by all students attending the J.V. games, even though the team had a tough time, finishing the year with a 2-6 record. Dave Cambell was chosen Most Valuable Player by his teammates. Coach Brown said that many of this year’s Junior Varsity players will be excellent prospects for next year’s varsity.

“Well here goes another touchdown!”

FROSH FOOTBALL

The freshman football team followed in the steps of previous frosh teams by losing every game of the season. The boys were changing their attitude toward the game—it was no longer just a community fun game. The Freshmen realized that they were working to advance the Varsity team; they were playing to win for the school. As usual the team showed enthusiasm in their practices and games, and we can be sure that the boys will do much better next year. Look for Peter King in future years, because he was elected Most Valuable Player.

"Gee, I wish we could play!"

There's no telling whether or not the fact that there were thirteen members on the team brought the lancers bad luck in basketball this year. The team just couldn't seem to get going, ending the season with a 3-15 record. About four games were lost in the last ten seconds because of a bad break.

High scorer was Mark Brumbaugh, who averaged almost twenty points a game - that's over 350 points for the season! All the boys, including co-captains Brumbaugh and Cole found themselves at long after school practices shooting baskets and working out plays.

The tournament this year began a new system in which a team plays until it loses. The Lancers played their only tournament game against Edison on March 1st, but were defeated.

Hope still survived the season, though. Hope that next year will be better.

"All for Lee stand up and holler!"

Ray Cole - Guard

LaMonte Wilson - Center

"Get your hand out of the way!!!"

"Foul!! Foul!!"

"Ya, we finally scored!!"

"Pretty tricky, huh?"

"Are you sure this is the way to do the Momba?!"

The "half nelson", the three-quarter nelson", the "cradle", the "cradle reverse", the "Michigan ride", and the "arm bar and walk" are all holds used in wrestling to pin a man. Apparently the Lancer wrestlers learned these holds well, for the 1965-66 wrestling season was the best season in the history of the school. Bruce Campbell held the best record, 11-1, followed by Steve Carlan, 10-2; Rod Kitchens, 9-3; and John Scuton, and Vic Gargo, both with 8-3-1.

At the Northern Virginia Tournament on February 17, 18, and 19, the Lancers placed eighth out of the fifty seven teams in team scoring. Bruce Campbell placed second in the 112 pound class; Steve Carlan placed second in the 138 pound class; and Rod Kitchens placed third in the heavyweight division.

On February 25 and 26 these three boys represented Lee at the State Tournament at Washington and Lee High School. They placed seventeenth out of fifty-seven. Steve Carlan brought great honor to Lee by winning second place in his division.

"Ouch!!"

Oof! Whap! Zap! Before each match the boys of Lee's wrestling team competed with each other, the winner in each division became the varsity wrestler for the next match. Second place wrestler in this elimination wrestler on J.V. that week. About thirty-five boys, two to five in each division, try for the Varsity wrestling team.

The boys on the J.V. worked just as hard as varsity. At an after-school practice the wrestling was so strenuous that each boy lost between two and ten pounds each night, but regained at dinner.

"I wonder if Judo is legal?!"

Sprinting 100 yards, or running two miles, or pole vaulting, the discus—the 50 member track team participated in these and many other track and field events. Luckily, most of our participants will be returning next year. Junior, Dave Hilliard, who does the high jump, triple jump, and long jump, and sophomore Mike Canzoniere, who does the 100 and 200 yard dashes, were two of the strong men of the team this year. Strange though it seems, there were actually more freshman than seniors on the team.

Track events included the 100,200,440,880, mile, and two-mile runs; field events were the shot put, discus, triple jump, long jump, high jump, and pole vault. Our season was fairly good this year, but next year it should be even better.

J.V. TRACK

The Junior Varsity track team this year is composed of those boys who don't make the Varsity team. The boys work hard practicing in the areas of running high jumping, pole vaulting, and throwing the shot put and discus. A tryout or meet is held each week in which the winners from the meet comprise the varsity team for that week while the losers comprise the J.V. team.

This is a new method of selection at Lee this year. With this new method, there is keen competition within the team to first, make the varsity team and then to win their meets. This high sense of spirit has been obvious at the meets this year especially with Lee's defeat of Edison. This new method also, obviously makes for the best possible team and the strong competition thus resulting in the self-improvement of each boy as well as the improvement of the team as a whole.

CROSS COUNTRY

"You've got to be nuts to go out for it," said one of the 25 crosscountry team members. Crosscountry racing is truly a sport that separates the men from the boys. An afternoon practice consists of running up to ten miles over fields, on roads, and through woods. All the training is put to use in the meets at which the runners race for two to two-and-a-half miles. Sometimes traffic has to be stopped to let the runners pass.

The team was one of the most spirited teams at Lee. They were overjoyed when they defeated Edison!

Although crosscountry is an individual sport, it still requires teamwork. In a race the first man in gets one point; second man gets two points; third man gets three points; and so on. Therefore the team with the fewest number of points wins the meet.

If you want to prove your masculinity, if you want to show your stamina; if you want to demonstrate your ability to live through torture; crosscountry is for you.

RIFLE TEAM

Row 1: (l. to r.) R. Petuy, W. Swarm. Row 2: O. Wright, W. Mass, G. Stoechert.

The five members of the rifle team found themselves either practicing or participating in matches on Wednesday evenings. Home matches were held at Libby Range in Fort Belvoir; matches took place at Washington-Lee or Fort Hunt.

High score of the season was Bill Swarm who had about a 275 average out of a possible 300. He will be returning next year to try to better his score.

GOLF SCHEDULE

The object of the game? To win a hole by making it in the fewest number of strokes. In best ball matches a foursome battles, two men from each school. Beat your man, get a point; beat everyone, get a point. Matches took place at such places as Woodlawn, Springfield, and Belle Haven.

The golf team was made up of eight boys—six regulars and two alternates. Half the team graduates this year, but the other four will return next year to fight for Lee and an even better record.

VARSITY BASEBALL

"It's a high ball to right field - Hahula's in their waiting and he's caught it." If Lancer baseball games were broadcast you might very well have heard the above.

The Lancer baseball team is really off-and-running this year with a 9-3 record. Coached by Mr. Hyer the team possesses a lot of power and stamina.

On the mound there is a lot of strength with Ray Cole, Dick Schoen, and Larry Hahula pitching. The in-field is also very strong with Tom Maertens on first base, Jack Lovett on second base, Mark Brumbaugh on third base, and Jim Wilson as short stop. Then there is Jim Huddleston who catches just about everything. In the out-field we find just about the best batting average in John Staley who plays center field. Also with good batting averages are Keith McCall in left field and Larry Hahula in right field.

"You think you're so smart - here comes my fast ball!!!"

"Man! will I get that pitcher!!!"

Strike! Foul! Out! Double-play! Balk! What does all this lingo mean? Its used by the boys of the Junior Varsity baseball team which is coached by Mr. Baumgardner. The J.V. team is made up mostly of those boys with a little less age and experience than the varsity players. In playing on the J.V. team the boys receive a real workout. They learn all the fundamentals of baseball and spend long hours after school at batting practice - batting, pitching, catching, running, and sliding. The team has a lot of spirit and hopes to do well this season.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASEBALL

With the start of the softball season, some of Lee's students were again plunged into hard practice and hot games. A good season was anticipated by Miss Fields and the girls. Sharon Hossaflook did an excellent pitching job backed up by a fairly small but experienced team.

The team members found that softball gave them more than just exercise: it provided them with fun and the opportunity to see friends every afternoon.

Row 1: (l. to r.) B. Weems, M. Martin, C. Eller, J. Detwiler, T. Smith, Miss Anderson. Row 2: C. Gettler, G. DeYoung, G. Harding, K. Coven, J. Brader.

The season for the junior varsity softball team started in such a way that many teams would have been discouraged: three losses and one win. Coach Miss Anderson said however that the first teams were the hardest, and the last six would be easier. She also said that all the girls worked hard to win.

Of the many who tried out, only twelve girls made the final team. Captain Juanita Sweeney, Mary Ann Martin, and Judy Brader did excellent pitching jobs. Most of the team's members were freshmen and sophomores who will be back next year as experienced players.

"Would you believe I tipped it?"

"I do what?"

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

Dribble, pass, points! and the best girl's basketball team in Lee's History was on it's way to a winning season. In the twelve games played, Laura Rettstat and Janet Matney kept up a good race to score the points per game. Miss Vaughn, the varsity coach was extremely pleased with the whole team this year.

Six players are needed for a girls basketball game, and on one varsity team worked with only nine players in all. Of the nine: five are seniors, two are juniors, and two are sophomores. Next year's team will depend a great deal on the upcoming J.V. players. Captain Sharon Hosafook is a sophomore who will return.

"Make it!!! Make it!!! Make it!!!"

"After she makes it, we'll rush her!"

Learning to dribble correctly, to pass controlled balls, building up your strength, all these are part of learning basketball. The girl's J.V. team practiced all these things at long after school practices. As the season neared its end all the girls knew a lot more about basketball, many were even good enough to play varsity.

Nineteen girls made up the J.V. basketball team, led by co-captains Judy Reed and Gail Underwood. Such a large team promises more success for next year's varsity team which lost many this year.

VARSITY HOCKEY

Sore shins and dirty socks were the key phrases of the hockey season this fall. Much stamina is needed to last through a hockey game because it is made up mostly of running. In order to get the varsity team in shape, Miss Rowe used the daily "three times around the field" routine. All the practice and hard work paid off, however, in a record of 5-1-2. At the hockey banquet Jill Neville and Karen Reuter were announced as the elected Most Valuable Players.

J.V. HOCKEY

Hockey isn't just chasing after the ball!! Junior Varsity hockey players discovered that skill was needed in order to play a good game. They found that practice did not mean just playing—it was concentration on certain points such as dodging an opposing player or getting the ball away from someone legally. They also learned what skinned knees really were and how much it hurts when someone else swings a wild stick.

The final record was 2-3-3. Gretchen Spear and Diane Sisk were elected the Most Valuable Players.

The S.C.A., one of the most active organizations in the school, started its activities even before school started by giving a freshmen orientation dance in August.

The foreign exchange program, in which our school has been extremely fortunate, is sponsored by the S.C.A. This year was the fifth straight year that Lee has had a foreign exchange student. In the first of two assemblies held this year to inform students of the exchange program, Roger Hill, Lee's representative to Holland over the summer in the Experiment in International Living, and Cheryl Krupa, Mientje's American sister, both spoke on their experiences. In the second such assembly, Mientje and numerous other exchange students from nearby schools spoke on their own countries.

This year the S.C.A. not only sold football programs, sponsored the last football rally, and sponsored the homecoming dance, but also started a new football season tradition: the homecoming parade, which received a full-page write-up with pictures in the "Weekender" section of Saturday's Star.

In December the S.C.A. held their annual charity drive followed in January by an all out drive to finish payments on the "Lights for Lee".

Key Club

“No-o-o-o!!!” was the cry over the loud speaker as the Key Club began the announcements for the annual Sadie Hawkin’s Dance, which is sponsored jointly with the Keyette Club. The dance was, as usual, a huge success profit-wise and fun-wise.

The Key Club took on themselves the responsibility of accumulating and compiling information for an early edition of the Lee High Directory. A dance was held to promote the directories, and after the dance members of the club sold the directories in school.

In September and May the boys held car washes to earn money which was donated to a worthy national organization. In December the club sponsored a school-wide canned food drive.

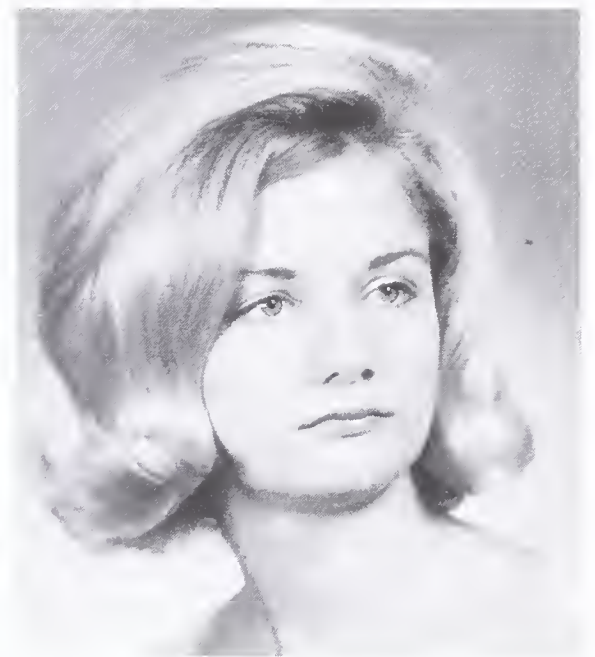

At one meeting Mr. Parrish spoke to the club on the traditions and rise of the Key Club; in February a dessert party was held; the annual Key Club banquet was held in May as was the District Convention. And the Key Club did one job which was not the most desirable for ten weeks—they cleaned the football field after the games.

Keyette Club

Keyette members took trips into the past and the future this year. If you happened to see or hear about the Keyettes playing with toys like children, don't worry, they have not retrogressed. The Keyettes made some toys, not for themselves, but for distribution in a District hospital. And those toys the Keyettes collected? They were sent to Viet Nam for the children there.

Someday we may hear that one of Lee's Keyettes has become a famous fashion model. She will probably attribute her success to the experience she gained in the Keyette Homecoming Fashion Show in which the Key Club also participated.

The thing that really brought fame to the Keyettes this year was the annual Sadie Hawkin's Day Dance which was sponsored jointly with the Key Club.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society carried on Ye Olde Booke Shoppe even though the motion to purchase a transistor radio for it was voted down. Sales went very well in spite of the fact that James Bond books were not permitted to be sold.

Many students through the year took advantage of the excellent tutoring service offered by the Society. Tutoring was done after school or at night in almost every subject. The members who tutored found themselves reviewing the subjects they had already taken—and learning along with their students.

Markings by Dag Hammarskjold was the first of many excellent books donated by the Honor Society to the school library. The books donated by the Society each year have greatly helped the quality of books in the library.

French Honor Society

Quest-ce qui arrivera an France apres De Gaulle? How do you turn a fruit into a man? What do French teens do with snails they catch after a rain? These are just a few of the many topics discussed in the French Honor Society's newspaper "Fleur de Lee". The paper was a new addition to Lee's literary productions this year.

In September the members of the Society took a field trip to the French Embassy. The trip ended with dinner at Napoleon's, a French Restaurant in Washington.

Each month one meeting was devoted to a program for furthering the knowledge of France. This objective was accomplished by hearing speakers who had visited France, or by going to see French movies.

"Get seated!" "Go on to the soccer field." "Hey, boy, that's not the way to the auditorium." Sounds like a faculty member, but in truth, Alpha Hi-Y took over the job of ushering at all assemblies and commencement exercises. Also in the line of school services done by Alpha were a paint job on the press box and "Seniors" painted in the senior section of the stands. Alpha members sold booster buttons, participated in the Homecoming Follies, in which they won third prize, and sponsored a dance after one of the basketball games.

Alpha Hi-Y supported Children's Hospital in Washington and all YMCA functions and activities during the year.

A really great activity was the initiation service and banquet which was held at the Charterhouse Hotel.

Epsilon Hi-Y

The former Mr. Body Beautiful was a speaker for Epsilon Hi-Y this year. He spoke on, of course, physical fitness along with the hazards of smoking and drinking. In order to show that they are physically fit, the boys took on the not-so-desirable but very necessary task of repairing all the boys' bathrooms. The improvement included a paint job of canary yellow. Other feats included working on the senior court, sponsoring a clothing drive at Christmas, selling mints for the YMCA and holding a dance after the first basketball game. Was the club trying to get one of its members elected the new Mr. Body Beautiful?

Epsilon Hi-Y's activities will not end with the end of school in June. During the summer the boys will go to the beach and have a picnic with the Tri-Hi-Y's.

Sigma Chi Delta Tri-Hi-Y opened the year by splattering paint all over themselves and the goal posts. Finally the posts were completely covered, and the job finished. Mr. Parrish used Sigma Chi Delta girls to do personal work for him, and the girls carried on their secretarial duties by acting as receptionists on back-to-school night.

In December the club went faithfully to Sleepy Hollow Old Folks' Home where they "decked the halls with boughs of holly" and rested merry old gentlemen and women. They carried on the service spirit by selling mints for the YMCA, adopting an orphan, and contributing to the World Service Project.

In December six girls from Sigma attended the Model General Assembly in Richmond, and in February the club held a Valentine's Day Tea for the mothers and daughters.

Chi Omega Tri-Hi-Y

Chi Omega Tri-Hi-Y contributed to school spirit this year by selling pieces of a huge cake before the Edison football game, by selling booster buttons, and by putting up the goal post sign for the Hammond game. Chi Omega also sponsored a float for the Homecoming and the annual BYOB (Bring Your Own Boy) Dance which was held early in 1966. The girls made the teachers' hall passes at the beginning of the year and participated in the Cafeteria Clean-up campaign.

But Chi Omega's activities this year weren't all based on the school. For a Thanksgiving project the Club filled four baskets with food for needy families. Mr. Boren of the Partners of the Alliance for Progress spoke to the club on November 6.

The Model General Assembly Conference in Richmond had a real experience when Chi Omega sent representatives.

Theta Sigma Phi Tri-Hi-Y

Since Lee was under construction this year Theta Sigma Phi Tri-Hi-Y placed a map of our school on the Key Club bulletin board at the beginning of the year. The map showed the plans for the new parts as well as the existing ones. Freshmen found the map very helpful the first few days of school!

The schedule of services to the school and community included working-a-day-for-JFK. The work was a bottle drive and the money was sent to the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Boston.

Theta Sigma Phi contributed $150 for educational purposes to the Save the Children Foundation. Members of Theta Sigma Phi gave a Halloween party at a children's home in October.

Students who went to the library for research probably noticed the new supply of pamphlets which Theta Sigma Phi donated.

In January the girls invited their mothers to a Mother-Daughter Tea that was held because "we thought it would be nice".

Art Guild

The Art Guild served in a service capacity this year by making silk screen posters to advertise club activities. These posters could be done in most any color and size and were very inexpensive. Such activities as yearbook sales and the Tag Day Concert were advertized by these posters.

Other projects included a food mural to be hung in the new cafeteria, supplying pictures for the offices, and a scholarship for a graduating Guild member.

The annual Richmond trip is always a big success visiting museums, seeing a play, and other such activities.

Students at Lee remember the Art Guild most because of the German steins, commonly called beer mugs, which Guild members made and sold.

Shield Staff

In two tiny rooms in the library, a group of hard working students carried on some very important work—getting out the 1966 Shield. Deadline! Get a first class yearbook out. And the job was done. The chief editors gave up their seventh period study-halls to work every day on the Shield. There were interviews to make, layout to do, pictures to take—and all these had to be coordinated.

Yearbook sales were great. More 1966 Shields were sold in one week than 1965 Shields in three weeks; more in a week and a half than in six weeks.

There were two conferences attended by staff members, one at American University and the other at Annandale High School. Ideas and tips from these conferences were used to put together the 1966 Shield.

But the biggest scares of all were the visits of Mr. Perry from the Hunter Publishing Company. Would he approve of everything done so far? Would many changes be made? Finally after hard work, late hours, incomplete homework, unstudied-for tests, and ulcers, the 1966 Shield was delivered to the students in the spring.

Gossip was one thing that the Senior Pipeline had plenty of this year—from almost every activity, that seniors participated in. When the Pipeline came out seniors, of course, got first pick if they had class cards. Copies that were left over were quickly bought by eager underclassmen who wanted to read about all of the terrific activities that the seniors were doing during the year. The Herald Staff decided this year that Lee's literary magazine would be much better this year than it has been in former years. To do that the staff decided that it would be best to have only one issue in the year with high quality material in that issue.

The staff members attended a conference at Annandale High School in November. At this conference they heard lectures on such things as finance, layout, public relations and censorship. The ideas from this conference were used to make the 1966 Herald a great success.

Material in the Herald included prose, poetry, and artwork which the students did themselves.

The Curtain rises and the play begins. But the audience only sees the finished product. Members of the Thespian Society worked as cast members and stage crew on such productions as "Cheaper by the Dozen," the junior-senior play, and the annual one-act festival. There were scenes to make, scripts to study, costumes to find, and make-up to do.

Not only did the Thespian act or help to produce school plays, but they also presented the film versions of several of Hollywood's well-known stories. Among the films presented were "The Mouse That Roared," "Charade," and "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

Among the clubs many interesting activities were visits to foreign embassies and a trip to the Peace Corps Center.

F.N.A.

Members of the Future Nurses of America found themselves very busy this year taking trips, doing service projects, and hearing clubs this year. Some members helped with the attendance records or worked in the clinic, while others served in the Junior Red Cross as library helpers or nursing home assistants.

In November, the girls took potted plants to the Manassas Old Folks' Home and gave a party there. They also filled Red Cross boxes with such things as soap and toothpaste, and gave a $100 scholarship to a worthy graduating club member.

Besides these services, the F.N.A. took trips to the Alexandria School of Nursing, the Riverside Hospital School of Nursing in Newport News, and Johns Hopkins Hospital. These trips gave the girls glimpses into campus life to help them decide where they would like to get their nursing training. At the schools they were given a complete tour of the hospital, the school, the dormitories, and also heard about the different programs offered by each school.

Nurses from different fields were invited to be guest speakers at F.N.A. meetings. The members thus learned about a career as a public health nurse, an Army Nurse, and other fields.

The F.H.A. took charge of the Senior reception and gave a $100 scholarship from money from the Miss Lee Dance and bakesales.

F.T.A.

"And Gladly Teach", the F. T. A. motto got a real workout this year. F. T. A. members went observing in an elementary school once a month and also served as teacher aids. As aids they found themselves typing, grading papers, and recording grades during their study halls and lunch periods.

The county sponsored a trip to Madison College in Harrisonburg where a tour of the campus was taken. The Lee chapter of F. T. A. also took a trip to the N. E. A. building in Washington for a tour.

During the year the F. T. A. had several bakesales and other fund-raising activities to earn money for a $100 scholarship for a worthy graduating club member.

Chemistry Society

The Chemistry Society, probably the most dangerous organization in the school, spent the year creating general havoc and messes. Membership consisted of intrepid students who were lucky enough to pass chemistry. Speakers, who were really members of the club, entertained their listeners by speaking on such subjects as the absorption of the ferric ion under the surface of titanium oxide. Real scientific skill was required when the Chemistry Society went to the lab. The members took chemicals, added them together, and came up with nitrogen bombs or thermit bombs of magnesium sulphide or other little things. All in all, the Chemistry Society had a really explosive year.

Biology Club

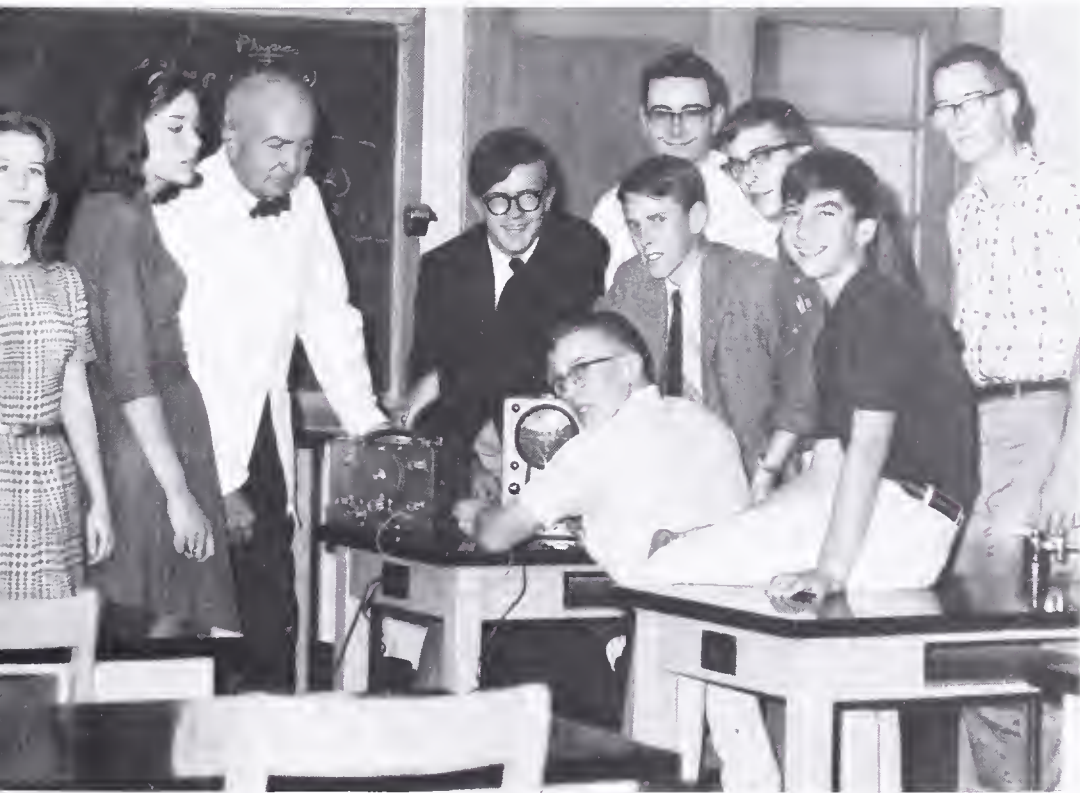

What do you know about microbiology and biochemistry? Probably nothing, or very little. Members of the Biology Club decided to remedy their ignorance by having speakers who were microbiologists or biochemists. Of course, a lot of biology is concerned with research so they also invited a research scientist to come and speak. Movies on all kinds of biological subjects were shown about once a month at the meetings.

Elephantitis legs, skeletons, internal organs, and other such things were seen on the trip to the Medical Museum in Washington.

$m = \frac{m_0}{\sqrt{1 - \frac{v^2}{c^2}}}$ is a simple formula used by physicists to show how mass increases as velocity increases. The physics club spent its time hearing speakers from Fort Belvoir, seeing physics films, and taking trips to learn and apply this and other formulas and theorems. Trips were taken to such places as the Smithsonian, the National Geographic building, the Edison planetarium, the Atlantic Research building, and the Naval Observatory.

Spanish Club

At the end of November, the Spanish Club went into Washington to a Spanish restaurant where they were served Spanish and Mexican foods. Later in the year they visited the Spanish embassy for a tour.

The interclub dinner, a pinata party in December, included Spanish carols such as "Noche de paz, noche de amor" and other Christmas carols led by Spanish Club members in the entertainment. Other sources of entertainment included playing Spanish records. Another Christmas project was a newspaper written entirely in Spanish by club members and containing stories about Santa Claus, crossword puzzles, and articles.

German Club

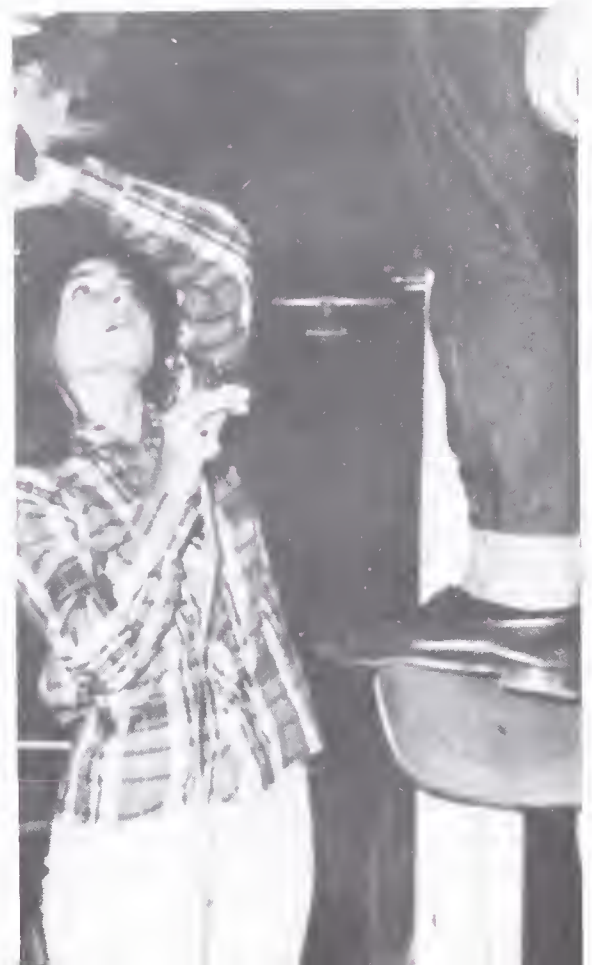

The Oktoberfest! Probably the best known of all German Club activities was a tremendous in spite of the absence of the substance of a real Oktoberfest. Later in the year German Club Members attended other parties such as the International Dinner and the German Club Christmas Party.

As far as the study of Germany and German culture goes, the German Club ordered films from the German embassy which were shown at the Buvorian and a tour of one of the embassies of German-speaking countries.

Debate Club

Research! Study! Discuss! Organize! It all must be done in order to have an effective debate. The Lee Debate Team uses the Oregon style of debating, which is probably harder to remember than all the facts of the debate subject itself. Here's how it goes: first affirmative six minute constructive speech followed by four minutes of questions by second negative speaker; first negative six minute constructive followed by four minutes of questions by the first affirmative; and so on. At the end there is a five minute rebuttal by each side. All but the very first speech must be impromptu in answer to what the opposition says. Information is organized in card files for quick reference.

Camera Club

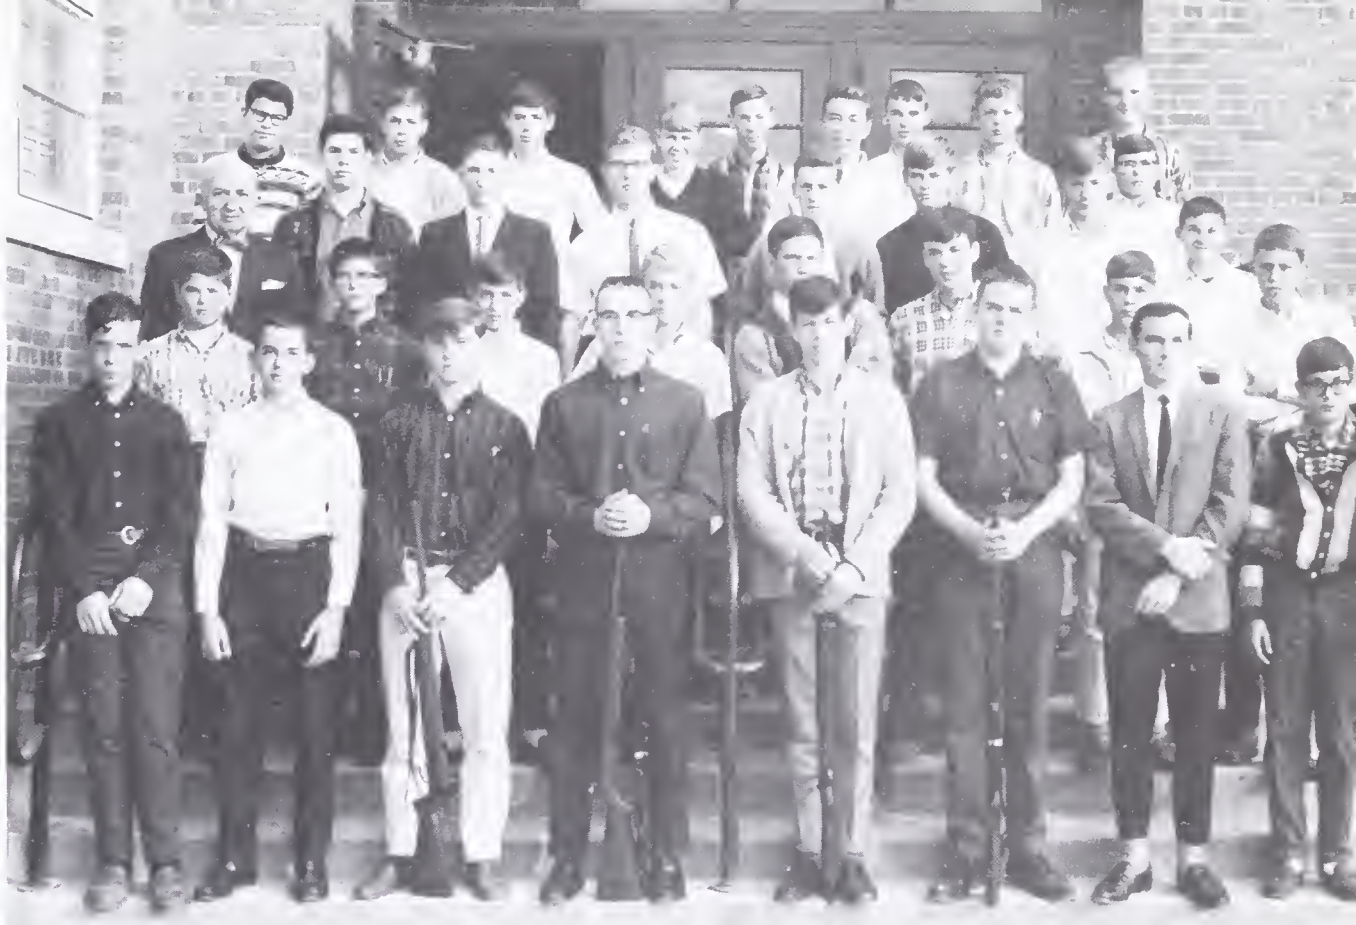

Angles, lighting, developing, and new types of cameras were subjects under discussion in the Camera Club this year. Instruction was given by advanced members or guest speakers. Each month two competitions were held in two classes, beginners' and advanced. Each member made three prints which were brought in and graded. A critique of each picture was given back to the photographer so that he would know how to improve his future pictures. At the end of the year a prize was given to the member who had earned the most points in the competitions during the year. The club identification picture shows the ability of a member of the Camera Club.

Rifle Club

Each week members of the rifle club go to the Fort Belvoir Libbey Range where they have rifle practice using the small bore rifle position shooting in prone, kneeling, and standing positions. From the club the rifle team is chosen consisting of the six best shooters. Shooting matches started on December 1.

A contest between members of the team was held, and the winner of this contest was sent as Lee's representative to an interclub aggregate match.

Chess Club

Two up and one over, or two over and one up goes the knight; horizontally or vertically goes the rook; diagonally goes the bishop. There is a lot to remember in order to play chess well. In Chess Club meetings the members, of course, played chess. You know the old saying "Practice makes perfect". The object of the game? Catch the big guy, the king, but don't let the opponent get yours. Watch out for the fool's mate which is an extremely short game. The moves are as follows: white, P-KB4; black, P-K3; white, P-KKt4; black, Q-R5.

G.A.A.

This year the Girls' Athletic Association bought for the school new, much-needed hockey and girls' basketball uniforms. To raise the money needed for such a project, the G.A.A. members sold refreshments at all the basketball games. The girls also sponsored bake sales, a hootenanny, and a booth at the senior carnival.

Attaining G.A.A. membership became more difficult this year. Girls must earn a required number of points through participation in intramurals, junior varsity, and varsity sports.

"Kill it!!"

Pep Club

"Charge Chargers," "Raid Raiders," "Jail Federals." These are just three of the many phrases used by the Pep Club to encourage school spirit this year. Before every football, basketball, and baseball game, the club hung up signs in the halls to remind us students that our teams were working hard.

As usual, the Pep Club was the largest in the school. This year more than 160 people joined up, and most of these turned out to be regular members.

"Pep club supports the school in a big way."

The Lee High Lancerettes appeared at all the home football games this year. The team consists of three main baton twirlers and ten flag twirlers. The girls put in a lot of practice to march each week including third period practice with the band.

All the girls on the team know how to twirl a baton and among the thirteen girls are about forty trophies—a record to really be proud of.

One, two, three, four, march! No, it's not an Army marching maneuver, it's Lee's brand new drill team practicing on the school parking lot. Many worries and plenty hard work went into the formation of this new unit of Lee spirit. First came the worry until finally thirty-four junior and senior girls were chosen to make up the team. The next step was to make up and work out the marching routines—and it's hard to get thirty-four girls to do the same thing at the same time! But a team can't march without uniforms so the girls ordered material and patterns and made their own. After all this, the Lee High School Drill Team made its first appearance in the basketball season.

"Dixieland"

Lancer Band

The Robert E. Lee High School Band was considered by most students as the best band Lee has ever had in many years. The spirit of the band was demonstrated at the football games at which there was a special band section. Not only did the band march, but it also provided music to sing "Lee Lancers Onward" and "Lancers" during home and away games. The band's first concert appearance which was followed later in the year by other successful concerts, was the Flag Day Concert on December 1.

The Acappella Choir is one of the more advanced choruses which is aimed for by many chorus students. The Choir sang at all the concerts during the year singing such songs as "Faith", "The Nation's Creed", and "Greensleeves", in which Frank Turberwill was soloist.

If you happened to be walking down near the music room during fifth period at the beginning of the year, you probably heard what sounded like "The Early Show". In truth the music came from the Advanced Girls Chorus who sang "The Early Show" theme song, "The Syncopated Clock", at the first choral concert of the year in November. Other numbers the chorus performed were "I Hear A Song" and "While Strolling Through the Park One Day". Mrs. Forrer considered the Advanced Girls Chorus the chorus that made the most progress during the year. The girls also sang at the Christmas concert and at the annual Spring Concert.

Mixed Chorus

One step up from the Freshman Chorus is the Mixed Chorus which was made up of both boys and girls. When a student reaches this chorus he is able to wear a robe for the first time. The Mixed Chorus this year sang all types of music from "I Could Have Danced All Night" to "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" to "Michael Rowed the Boat."

Row 1: (l. to r.) D. Harrover, L. Andersen, K. Castellucci, A. Best, S. Kawolies, K. Piech, C. Isley, S. Studley, L. Frieders, T. Kirk, G. McMichael, V. Spangler, M. Mekus, C. Cash, F. Thacker, A. Pitts, R. Wapensky, S. Applebee, C. Wapensky, G. Harris, J. Hudson, K. Coven.

Freshman Chorus

Everything must have a beginning. The Freshmen Girls Chorus, much smaller this year in comparison to previous years, gives freshmen girls their first glance at Lee's music program. The girls sing at the annual concerts singing such numbers as "The Minstrel Boy" and "Sweet and Low."

Madrigals

"Seventy-six Trombones" is not exactly what would be considered madrigal music, but the Lee High Madrigals showed their singing ability by singing several selections from "The Music Man" and such madrigal music as "Lift Thine Eyes" by Felix Mendelssohn. The chorus sang at the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Concerts.

(l. to r.) C. Beach, A. Downs, C. Flemming, M. Sullivan, J. Eddy, B. Covert, B. Blevins.

Guidance Help

When a guidance helper came into a classroom with a blue slip, each student hoped it was for him. Oh, the happiness that results from getting out of class, even if you just trot behind the guidance helper to the office.

Row 1: (l. to r.) B. Dietz, S. Alvey, D. Earles, G. Grissom. Row 2: P. Prather, S. Evans, S. Williams, M. Townsend.

Clinic Help

The line in front of the clinic forms early for people getting excuses, but clinic helpers must be in the clinic before the line forms to help Mrs. Durie get excuses written. The helpers assist in filling out forms and with any other work that needs to be done.

Library Help

The 900's go in the 900 section, but library assistants discovered soon after beginning work that the 900's did not stay in the 900 section. Reading shelves is one job that must be done so each library assistant was given a section that he was to care for himself. Assistants spent a lot of their time showing freshman how to check out a book like Lassie Come Home.

Standing: (l. to r.) S. Bunis, M. Spector, M. Moshos, V. Bryant, M. Lombard, D. Clark, E. McLucas. Sitting: K. Kester, K. Moucha, M. Swart, E. Tripp, B. Wellington, A. Cacciatore, P. Russel, G. Richard.

(l. to r.) B. Metzdorf, C. Hess, N. Deal.

IBM Help

Luckily our IBM machines made absolutely no mistakes this year because of the excellent work done by IBM helpers. The IBM machine eats a lot so the helpers spent their time feeding it tidbits about students, like report cards.

Seniors, remember —

A little more patience, a little more charity for all, a little more devotion, a little more love; with less bowing down to the past, and a silent ignoring of pretended authority; brave looking forward to the future with more faith in our fellows, and the race will be ripe for a great burst of light and life. —Elbert Hubbard.

SPRING IS . . .

"Safety Week with Officer Cox showing the Seniors something about their brakes."

"Crysler presenting Thurlow Spur and the Spurlows."

"A time to be proud of your school on dress up day."

"Mr. Piper's appearance for the first time from the IBM room to help Officer Cox with Safety Week."

"A frantic burst of hilarity from an audience that throbs with Spring fever."

"If I close my eyes I can pretend this is the Coliseum!!"

FROSH-A-GO-GO . . .

"Hey John, who are you dancing with?!"

"I'm not a Go-Go Girl—I was locked up for talking to a Sophomore!!"

"Gosh, I don't know who I'm dancing with!!"

FROSH-SOPH SOFTBALL GAME . . .

"There goes the old bean-ball!!"

"Looks like it will be a fly ball to the pitcher!"

"Strike Four—the Sophomores need more to make up for lack of co-ordination!!"

"Wonder what would happen if I kept the ball?"

"If I hurry, maybe he won't see me!!"

"Sure your upset, but don't take it out on the batter!!"

Throughout the halls of Lee this year many art creations were arranged for display on panels and bulletin boards. Participants in the Art Departments Art Honor Program put their talents to work to assemble a perfect decor for our school. The fine works that were displayed ranged from colorful abstracts to realistic black and white sketches. Many artists also tended toward the impressionistic type of painting. It wouldn't be enough to say that these art collections added beauty to our school. We most heartily say that they were appreciated immensely because of the cheer and grace that they brought to Lee.

SLAVE AUCTION . . .

"Man, won't we be a hit in Nashville!!"

"... don't thumb your nose bub..."

"Its not so much your pants, just don't lose your shirt!"

"I can tell...that's not all you!!"

"We're off to see the Wizard, the wonderful Wizard of Oz!!"

"Three high-minded Seniors trying to protect the morals of the student body!"

"A proud lady stands in the harbor...an inspiration to those seeing her for the first time...a friendly face to most New Yorkers."

"Exotic, noisy Chinatown drew many Seniors from the scheduled itinerary."

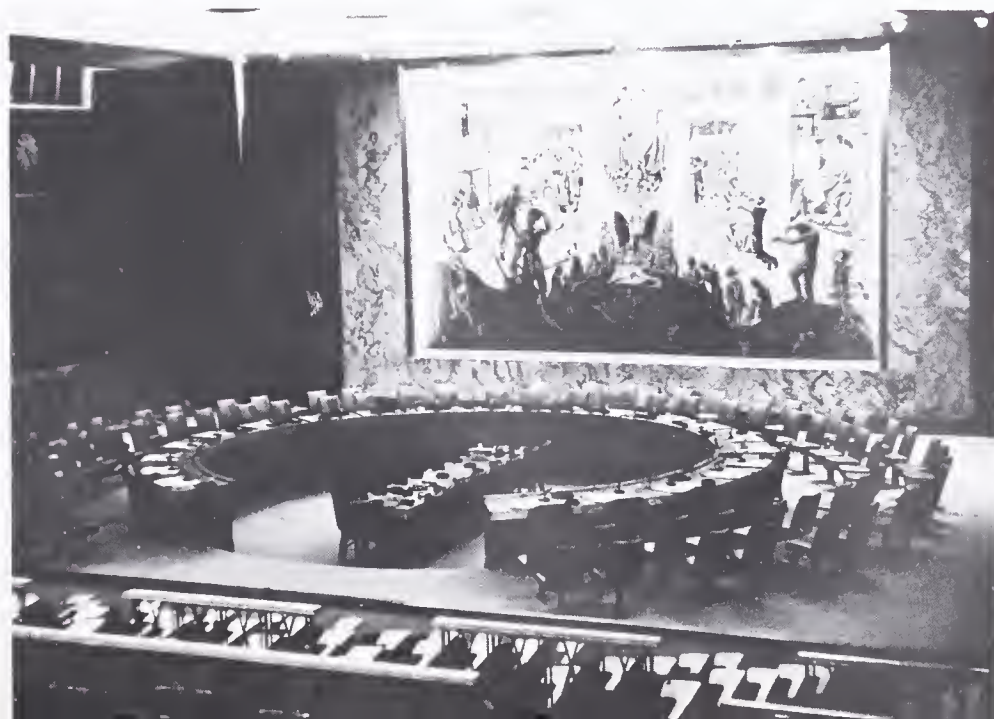

"St. Paul's Cathedral - a restful stop in a busy Saturday of sightseeing."

SENIOR TRIP . .

"Sunday morning...a time to confess your first cigar and first drink!"

"Wonder where everyone is...must be the Black Plague!"

"A quiet spirit of peace is found in the courtyard of the United Nations."

"Would you believe Mr. Dillard rented this room for the next debate!"

SENIOR PROM . . .

With the musical theme of "Moon River" and the romantic dim lights of the ball room in The Hotel Washington a mood of reverie was instilled in all who attended the Senior Prom on May 20, 1966. The Dance band "played on" excellently with contemporary songs that everyone enjoyed dancing to. The flower arrangements gracing the tables were of white orchids and roses of scarlet and pink shades. The gayest feeling and attire created the unique atmosphere that belongs only to a senior prom.

No one will ever forget the wonderful time spent at the senior prom this year. Needless to say, many seniors enjoyed the festive and wild parties held after the prom.

"Be a nice dance if he'd get off my feet."

"One more picture and I'll take that camera away."

"Max! I'm caught in your suspenders!"

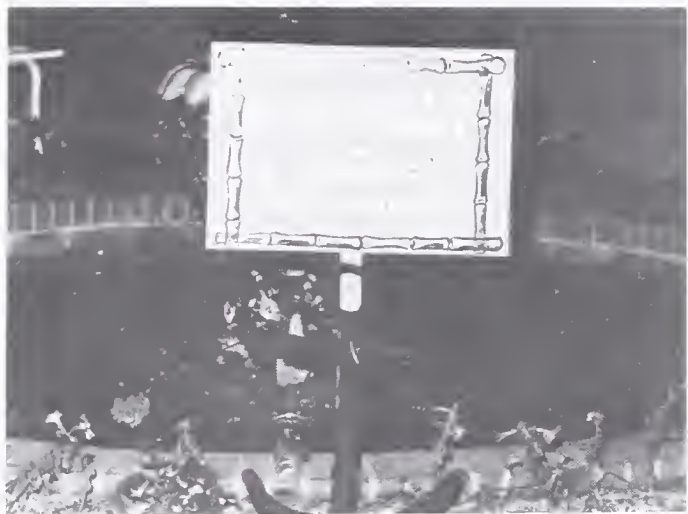

"Now what did I do with those keys."

"If only they'd play "Moon River."

"Would you believe two for a penny?"

JUNIOR PROM . . .

"Open your mouth—Shut your eyes and you'll get a surprise—She believes anything!"

"Aconite Carnage."

"One more false start and you're out of the race!"

"What's this? The faculty ducking out of the Jr. Prom? Wonder where they went!!"

"The first night practice—hoping you don't have to leave any seats empty."

BACCALAUREATE . . .

"Miss Will passed out gold tassels to nervous NHS members "

"We will now play "It's Howdy Doody Time."

"Our eyes looking forward...our heads held high as we face the future."

"Hey John! Careful of that torch around the administration. You haven't graduated yet."

"An elated female graduate can't surpress her grin."

GRADUATION . . .

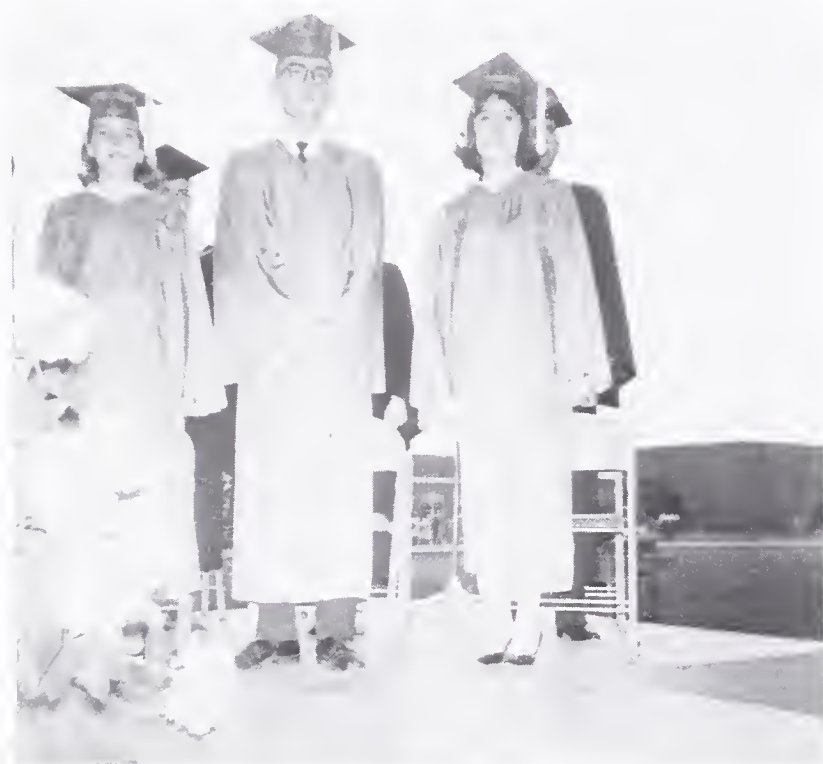

"When our honored faculty don caps and gown in remembrance of that long distant and glorious day."

"Boy, will I be glad to get rid of this class.(!)"

"Why sure I'll shake your hand."

"When our most distinguished students speak to us of the waiting future."

"A song of hope-Graduation is not the end...it is the beginning."
